Delicious

We all enjoy delicious food,
Makes us happy, fixes our mood.
It's all about the juicy taste,
Doesn't matter, where the food is placed.

We should consider, nutritional support,
We shall need it, if we engage in a sport.
Energy; food provides - plenty Need a bit more, if we're over twenty.

A great dish, we should all savor,
Eat slowly, as we taste the flavor.
Choose our very favorite cuisine,
Is it red? Or is it green?

The Silver Lake Love Poems-Emanuel Di Pasquale 2000 Poetry. Two thousand years ago a Sicilian immigrant poet named Theocritus invented the pastoral -- a mode of lyric poetry in which a sophisticated, urban imagination recaptures the innocence of life rooted in the natural world. Today another Sicilian poet recreates the pastoral in American terms in the finely observed and delicate lyrics that make up THE SILVER LAKE LOVE POEMS. At once innocent and sophisticated, urban and pastoral, Emanuel di Pasquale creates poetry that is timeless and direct -- Dana Gioia.

Love Poetry-Vee Bdosa 2003-08-01

Many people experience love on a daily basis, but often ignore and fail to acknowledge it. Many of Vee Bdosa's poems originated from requests by people on the Internet to write them a poem. The resulting poetry received as gifts and read by husbands, wives, boyfriends, and at weddings and even at a funeral. "Love Poetry" takes you from a baby's laugh and smile to a girl's first kiss. From first kiss to marriage, to the failing of love and the tragedy of divorce and being alone. From the loneliness of older adults and their final breath, to the one great love, "Love Poetry" explores love's every facet.

The Reptilian Interludes (and a Child's Prayer)-Ross Talarico 2008

Talarico's poetry bridges the gap between the scientific approach to life and that advocated by the humanities.

International Who's Who in Poetry 2004-Europa Publications 2003

Provides up-to-date profiles on the careers of leading and emerging poets.

Writing Anew-Emanuel Di Pasquale 2007 Poetry. "Emanuel di Pasquale writes with reverence and wonder, like some Adam first laying eyes on beast and tree, bestowing names upon them...I find di Pasquale an astonishing and delightful poet, a visionary miraculously set down in New Jersey, and a true original" -- X.J. Kennedy.

The Poets and Poetry of Europe.
With introductions and biographical notices. By H. W. Longfellow assisted by C. C. Felton-Henry Wadsworth Longfellow 1855

Sicilian-Emanuel Di Pasquale 2009 Poetry. Bilingual poems in Italian and English. Illustrations by Rocco Cafiso.
"Emanuel di Pasquale's poems should be read by every American ... He excels at the short lyric, writes directly, and feels deeply ... The reader is enriched by both his Sicilian and his American realizations in his life-enhancing lines"-- Richard Eberhart. "[di Pasquale] writes out of strong experience, and by insisting on accuracy, he comes out both simple and surprising. He's never decorative: there is always something human happening, and his words are close to it"--Richard Wilbur.

Love Lines-Emanuel Di Pasquale
2013-08-30 Poetry. Italian American

Studies. This is Emanuel di Pasquale's latest collection of poetry. His previous work has been praised by the likes of X.J. Kennedy, Richard Wilbur, Dana Gioia, and Grace Cavalieri. In this collection di Pasquale continues to offer his reader wonderfully crafted poetry that is both wistful and emotive. Praise for di Pasquale's previous work:

"Emanuel di Pasquale's HARVEST is a collection of poetry that observes the landscape, both physical and psychological, of the New York / New Jersey region. Prof. di Pasquale immigrated to the United States as a teenager and has devoted a career to the literature of his adopted nation as well as his maternal country. The work is quintessentially American, whether he describes a landscape in suburban New Jersey or a poetry reading at the foot of New York City's Public Library. And yet, there is a hint of memory of the old country, a phrase, no doubt spoken with a sign that brings Southern Europe to Monmouth Beach ... a work of superb poetry with imagery so crisp it could be used in a text book. More importantly, it is a testament of what was brought to this country over the last 150 years that resonates in our culture from the plaque on the Statue of Liberty to the slap of the waves on the California coast."—Ed Bennett

Poetry-Harriet Monroe 2003

A Passion for Poetry-Maril Ozanne

Garrison 2013-06 A PASSION FOR POETRY Why poetry? Why has this ancient craft existed throughout time, continuing even into our fast-paced age of moderncy and technology? Perhaps two reasons: 1) The human condition still demands we ask who we are, what we are and why we are; and 2) space is limited in this form of writing requiring the poet reduce his thoughts into a quick-read format. Puns, pundits, quotes, poetry and prose capsule 90% of everything the human race believes to be important and true Poets are avatars who define the nature and meaning of our roles. They reduce the fabric of our existence to the simplest ingredients of mind, soul, bones, sinew and desire. It is the forum that speaks to all, reaches all, touches all, teaches all, questions all, answers all.

The Little Sailor-Anthony Valerio 2008 Like most of Valerio's narrative fiction, "The Little Sailor" combines personal and popular cultural histories, resolving the logic and emotion of its protagonist's episodic memory in a linear plot.

Self-Portrait-Emanuel Di Pasquale 2014-04 Poetry. Emanuel di Pasquale's SELF- PORTRAIT offers a collection of small but powerful poems that present a world where the poet, the poem and thus the reader wrestle with the human connection with nature—our forming mother. These poems explore inner passions and how such passions help us understand the nature of nature, the nature of things, and ultimately the nature of ourselves.

Escapes the Night-Emanuel Di Pasquale 2001

Desperate Inscriptions-Stanislao G. Pugliese 2002 Cultural Writing. Graffiti. The former SS and Gestapo headquarters in Rome is today an eerily quiet place. The silence is broken only when school children visit. Tucked away on Via Tasso in a middle-class district in the Eternal City--a stone's throw from the Basilica of St. John in Lateran--the former prison is now the Museo Storico della Liberazione di Roma, commemorating the liberation of Rome by Resistance fighters and Allied troops in June 1944. Within, anti-fascist partisans scrawled graffiti full of pathos and the romantic idealism that so permeated the Italian Resistance. A visitor today can still read the desperate inscriptions, collected in this volume along with recollections by inmates and narratives concerning the Via Tasso.

Italian Cultural Studies, 2001- Anthony Julian Tamburri 2004 Cultural Writing. Essays. ITALIAN CULTURAL STUDIES is a compilation of selected essays written by participants of the 3rd Annual Interdisciplinary Symposium of the Italian Cultural Studies Association.

It examines the notion of cultural studies, both Italian and other. What is cultural studies? Why should we study it? How should we teach it? What is its relation to traditional language studies? Contributors to the volume include: Simone Bregni, Peter Carravetta, Melissa Anne Coburn, Thomas Cragin, Sante Matteo, Tullio Pagano, Gabriella Romani, Maria Galli Stampino, Michael Syrimis, Patrizia La Trecchia, Cesare Vespignani, and Robert Viscusi.

The Three-legged One-Giose Rimanelli 2009 Fiction. "This new novel completes what will inevitably be called the Anabasis Trilogy, and removes any doubt of Rimanelli's place in American literature"--Fred L. Gardaph, from the Introduction. "Giose Rimanelli is one of those remarkable writers who, like Joseph Conrad, have turned from their first language to English...."--Anthony Burgess, Times Literary Supplement.

More Italian Hours, and Other Stories-Helen Barolini 2001 Fiction.

"MORE ITALIAN HOURS is an elegant, intelligent and, finally, luminous book" - Carole Maso. These stories captured my attention from the beginning to the end. Barolini's telling details create the characters so vividly that I felt I could almost touch them...Italy too is alive in these stories as the characters inhabiting it" - Nahid Rachlin, author of Foreigner. "Helen Barolini emerges...as both a serious literary artist and a spokesperson with a feisty feminist conscience for Italian American social and literary issues" - Rita Signorelli-Pappas, Women's Review of Books.

The Family Library of British Poetry from Chaucer to the Present Time-
James Thomas Fields 1878

Infinite Present-Maura Del Serra 2002
Poetry. Translated by Emanuel Di Pasquale and Michael Palma. "At the heart of these poems theoretical reasoning and the reasoning of possibility are defined, and therefore the necessity of a composite texture, the form of love that moves from the multiple to the singular" - Claudio Varese. The work of Maura Del Sera, poet, literary critic, translator, and playwright, has been translated into German, English, French, Catalan, Portuguese, Russian, and Swedish. In this collection of poetry veteran translators Di Pasquale and Palma maintain a lovely consistency as they alternate poems. "I have always been moved by obstinate grass tufts/ bursting through walls and asphalt,/ children of stone and air, and only of a memory, earth longing" - from Road Grass.

Toni Cade Bambara's One Sicilian Night-Anthony Valerio 2007 "Toni Cade Bambara's One Sicilian Night is a brief and elegant story that recalls the first meeting of writer Anthony Valerio and one of the leading African-American writers on the way to a PEN writers' conference in Sicily. Toni Cade Bambara and Valerio have more in common with each other than they do with other writers from around the U.S., and so forged a friendship that's supportive, interesting and charmingly romantic. Part travelogue, part love story, "One Sicilian Night" is a rewarding read full of Sicilian and African-American flavors"--Fred L. Gardaphe, SUNY Stony Brook.

Sarojini Naidu's poetry-Satvinder Kaur 2003

Autunno Di Sangu-Daniela Gioseffi

2006 Poetry. Translated to the Italian by Elisa Biagini, Luigi Bonaffini, Ned Condini, Luigi Fontanella, and Irene Marchegiani. Daneila Gioseffi's BLOOD AUTUMN/AUTUNNO DI SANGUE features selected poems and new work by the poet in both the original English and Italian translation. "Visionary and powerful. Tremendous vitality. A gifted and graceful writer"-Galway Kinnell. "A pleasure to read...Gioseffi's work is brilliant, compassionate, and timely"-D. Nurkse. SPD also carries WORD WOUNDS WATER FLOWERS and GOING ON, as well as the Gioseffi-edited anthology WOMEN ON WAR: INTERNATIONAL WRITINGS.

Italian Cultural Studies 2002-

Anthony Julian Tamburri 2005 Cultural Writing. ITALIAN CULTURAL STUDIES presents selected essays written by participants in 4th Annual Interdisciplinary Symposium of the Italian Cultural Studies Association. Held in 2002, this conference addressed basic questions pertaining to both Italian cultural studies and the broader field as a whole. How do we define cultural studies? Why should we study the topics it covers? How should we teach this work? Contributors include Cinzia Sartini Blum, Mark Pietralunga, Kenneth Gulotta, Annette Burfoot, and collection editor Anthony Julian Tamburri, among others.

Shifting Borders, Negotiating

Places-Brent Adkins 2006 Cultural Writing. SHIFTING BORDERS, NEGOTIATING PLACES is a compilation of papers presented at the international conference on cultural studies held at the University of Rome "La Sapienza" in 2000 and indicate some of the many directions scholars working in cultural studies have taken. Presented in both English and Italian (without translation), these papers present investigations sparked by European political and economic unification, globalization, and the place of cultural studies in apprehending and theorizing transnational change. Cultural studies may have taken hold in Italy later than it did in Great Britain and North America, but Italian academia now includes both many enthusiastic practitioners and a committed audience, as the diverse proceedings of this intellectually satisfying conference indicate.

The Poetry of British India, 1780-1905 Vol 2-Maire ni Fhlathuin 2020-03-27 This two-volume reset edition draws together a selection of Anglo-Indian poetry from the Romantic era and the nineteenth century.

Low Italian-George Guida 2006 Poetry. George Guida's first collection of poems, LOW ITALIAN, shows that he "...is a comic genius who is writing some of the funniest, most successfully satiric poems about Italian American behavior and culture, and by extension, ethnicity in general. His work has the self-assurance of a master: his voice can be assertive, ironic, self-reflexive, harlequinesque, self-deprecating, and noble, all the time remaining spontaneous, unified, and faithful to its own unique vision"--John Paul Russo, Co-Editor of the ITALIAN AMERICANA.

Bele Antiche Storie-Charles Klopp
2008 Cultural Writing. Italian Studies. Contributors to this work include Carmine di Biase, Giuseppe Antonio Camerino, Simone Castaldi, Elena Coda, Lois C. Dubin, Sylvie Duvernoy, Elvio Guagnini, Kay Bea Jones, Russell Scott Valentino, and Cristina Perissinotto. Dubin, Sylvie Duvernoy, Elvio Guagnini, Kay Bea Jones, Russell Scott Valentino,

E. E. Cummings-Susan Cheever 2014-02-11 From the author of American Bloomsbury, Louisa May

Alcott, and Home Before Dark, a major reassessment of the life and work of the novelist, painter, and playwright considered to be one of America's preeminent twentieth-century poets. At the time of his death in 1962, at age sixty-eight, he was, after Robert Frost, the most widely read poet in the United States. E. E. Cummings was and remains controversial. He has been called "a master" (Malcolm Cowley); "hideous" (Edmund Wilson). James Dickey called him a "daringly original poet with more vitality and more sheer uncompromising talent than any other living American writer." In Susan Cheever's rich, illuminating biography we see Cummings's idyllic childhood years in Cambridge, Massachusetts; his Calvinist father—distinguished Harvard professor and sternly religious minister of the Cambridge Congregational Church; his mother—loving, attentive, a source of encouragement, the aristocrat of the family, from Unitarian writers, judges, and adventurers. We see Cummings—slight, agile, playful, a product of a nineteenth-century New England childhood, bred to be flinty and determined; his love of nature; his sense of fun, laughter, mimicry; his desire from the get-go to stand conventional wisdom on its head, which he himself would often do, literally, to amuse. At Harvard, he roomed with John Dos Passos; befriended Lincoln Kirstein; read Latin, Greek, and French; earned two degrees; discovered alcohol, fast cars, and burlesque at the Old Howard Theater; and raged against the school's conservative, exclusionary upper-class rule by A. Lawrence Lowell. In Cheever's book we see that beneath Cummings's blissful, golden childhood the strains of sadness and rage were already at play. He grew into a dark young man and set out on a lifelong course of rebellion against conventional authority and the critical establishment, devouring the poetry of Ezra Pound, whose radical verses pushed Cummings away from the politeness of the traditional nature poem toward a more adventurous, sexually conscious form. We see that Cummings's self-imposed exile from Cambridge—a town he'd come to hate for its intellectualism, Puritan uptightness, racism, and self-righteous xenophobia—seemed necessary for him as a man and a poet.

Headstrong and cavalier, he volunteered as an ambulance driver in World War I, working alongside Hemingway, Joyce, and Ford Madox Ford . . . his ongoing stand against the imprisonment of his soul taking a literal turn when he was held in a makeshift prison for “undesirables and spies,” an experience that became the basis for his novel, The Enormous Room. We follow Cummings as he permanently flees to Greenwich Village to be among other modernist poets of the day—Marianne Moore, Hart Crane, Dylan Thomas—and we see the development of both the poet and his work against the backdrop of modernism and through the influences of his contemporaries: Stein, Amy Lowell, Joyce, and Pound. Cheever's fascinating book gives us the evolution of an artist whose writing was at the forefront of what was new and daring and bold in an America in transition. (With 28 pages of black-and-white images.)

A Life-poem-Frederick J. Keyes 1855

American Poetry-Bradford Morrow 2015-12-15 "Conjunctions offers a showplace for some of the most exciting and demanding writers now at work."
—The Washington Post With work from the seventy-five poets who are the game-changing, bar-setting voices of our time first published in this volume, Conjunctions: 35, American Poetry is the definitive collection for the contemporary poetic landscape. Includes astonishing uncollected work from masters of the form, as well as breathtaking new ventures from risk takers such as Juliana Spahr and Kevin Young. Contributors include John Ashbery, Susan Wheeler, and James Tate.

Calvario Delle Gru-Roberto Bertoldo 2003 "Bertoldo writes letters to the magpie, the cicada, and the pallet, and they answer him. Both microcosm and macrocosm, the book startles. His suggestive, philosophical lines make us pause and think: "We win / through the atmosphere that praises the shadows." He hears "the tone / that whispers with the leaves / when they fall." His words make us wish we were poets ourselves;

they urge us to listen with new ears, to see with new eyes: "Between Your unbuckled bones / eroded by the sea /
you sully the voice / of a song."-- Emanuel di Pasquale.
